"A voice—" He is a better man than you, you fraud, and that is not saying much for him."

O'Donnell—"If you came here to insult me, you will be quickly packed off to the Morgue, you dirty thief. He has been sent here to bulldoze me by the boss, the railroad and the Chinese, the dirty thief. The boss is the class of men that the Democrats sends around—ward-strikers and ballot-stuffers. If he insults me again, I will see that he is packed off."

The speaker then continued to say that he would be Mayor at the next election and that in 1890 he would be elected Governor. He called on the crowd who wanted him for the next Mayor and Governor to hold up their hands, which they did, and much merriment.

After the show of hands, O'Donnell shouted: "I will be your next Mayor and your next Governor, and don't you forget it." He continued to say that he had a name painted on all the fences in the State and it could not be removed unless — fences were burned down. He went on to say: "I am going to start a new political party—the party of free labor—we called the Anti-Coolie Free Labor party—that includes everything." [Cheers.] A rather respectably-dressed woman in the crowd here pushed her way to the front.

and said: "Shut up, you contemptible thing—you old hoary-headed scoundrel—you'll be elected, indeed! Yes, elected across the bay, where you ought to hang one long ago. You old scoundrel—you—old thief! And those who voted for you are as bad as you. Let me come near the old thief. He is the scoundrel."

"You old thief! He is an old, gray-headed common robber, and everybody but a few knows it. He took money fortibly out of a poor person's pocket; I can prove it—You old thief! Shut up, you old scoundrel, shut up!"

The speaker took no notice of the interruption and some members of the crowd

O'Donnell then proceeded to denounce the newspapers and Boss Buckley.

O'Donnell continued to say that when the new party was organized he would arm them with a new rifle of the best caliber.

He read largely from the Constitution of the United States and the Statutes of California and concluded by saying: "The Democratic party offered me $25,000 to get out of the field, but I said to them: 'Go to hell, you dirty thieves—I'll not get out of the field.'"

A voice— "How much did the Republican party give you to stay in?" [Cheers.] O'Donnell—"The Republicans made no offer." The speaker then referred length to the system which he asserted prevailed at the election and which demonstrated "rotten."—S. F. Call.

A CLAIM OF FRAUD.
Charge that a Ballot Box was Stuffed by a Fighter.
[S. F. Post, November 9th.]
The manner in which the Democrats

...nined their majorities in some of the p
...incts is slowly coming to light, and
...makes the Republican candidates who w
...defeated by a small majority more anxio
...to enter a legal contest. One of the wo
...outrages committed on the Precinct EE
...tion Boards was perpetrated in the Eigh
...Precinct of the Thirty-eighth District.

ward Smith, who acted as judge in the precinct, declares that the grossest fraud was resorted to in making the count. The republican votes were thrown on the floor and those cast for Daly, the Republican candidate for Assessor, were counted for Nealon. They were not satisfied with the kind of robbery, and another plan was tried. The Democratic County Committee, for good and sufficient reasons, sent Bill Riley, a prize fighter with unsavory reputation, to look out for their interests in the precinct, and, according to the account of the election judge, he did his work.

ell. Mr. Smith says that the Democratic inspector whose duty it was to make the votes from the ballot box found it necessary to go out. In his absence, Slogger Riley, although having no connection with the board, took possession of the ballot-box, and began taking out the votes.

and finding they were Republican ballots, he threw them under the table, on the floor, and substituted straight Democratic ballots, which he had concealed in his sleeve. Smith, who was calling off the names from the ballots, saw what was being done, and refused to count the ballots handed him.

used to count the ballots handed him by the slogger. This brought matters to a crisis and the slogger, with an oath, told the young man he could either count or he could let his internal viscera cut out; only he could not express himself in that language. Smith said if that was the case he would count, and he did so: but after calling two straight Democratic ballots, regain his courage, and refused to proceed further. The ballots were neither indorsed nor numbered, and Riley is accredited with having placed several Democratic ballots in the box. The staffer did not carry out the threat, and the Board took no action either.

expel him or remedy the mischief he has done. It now remains to be seen what action will be taken by the Republican County and State Central Committees. He said that when the returns have been officially counted the matter will be thoroughly investigated.

The friends of H. H. Pearson, Republican candidate for Sheriff, and Siebe, Independent candidate for Assessor, who have watched the count in the various precincts assert that in the Sixth precinct of the Thirty-ninth district the votes for Dr. Pearson and Whalen were counted for count, as the ballots cast would not correspond with the returns made. It is her stated that in the First precinct of the Thirty-eighth district Siebe's votes were counted for Nealson, and that in the South of the same district Siebe's votes were made to do duty for McMann, in order to overcome Pearson's majority.
